EDITORIAL

Dr Nupur Shrirao

She is a consultant Prosthodontist and esthetic dentist. She is currently in the Editorial Committee of 'International Journal Of Innovative Research In Dental Sciences (IJIRDS)' and the Reviewer Board of 'Journal of International Oral Health (JIOH)' and 'IP Annals of Prosthodontics & Restorative Dentistry (APRD).'

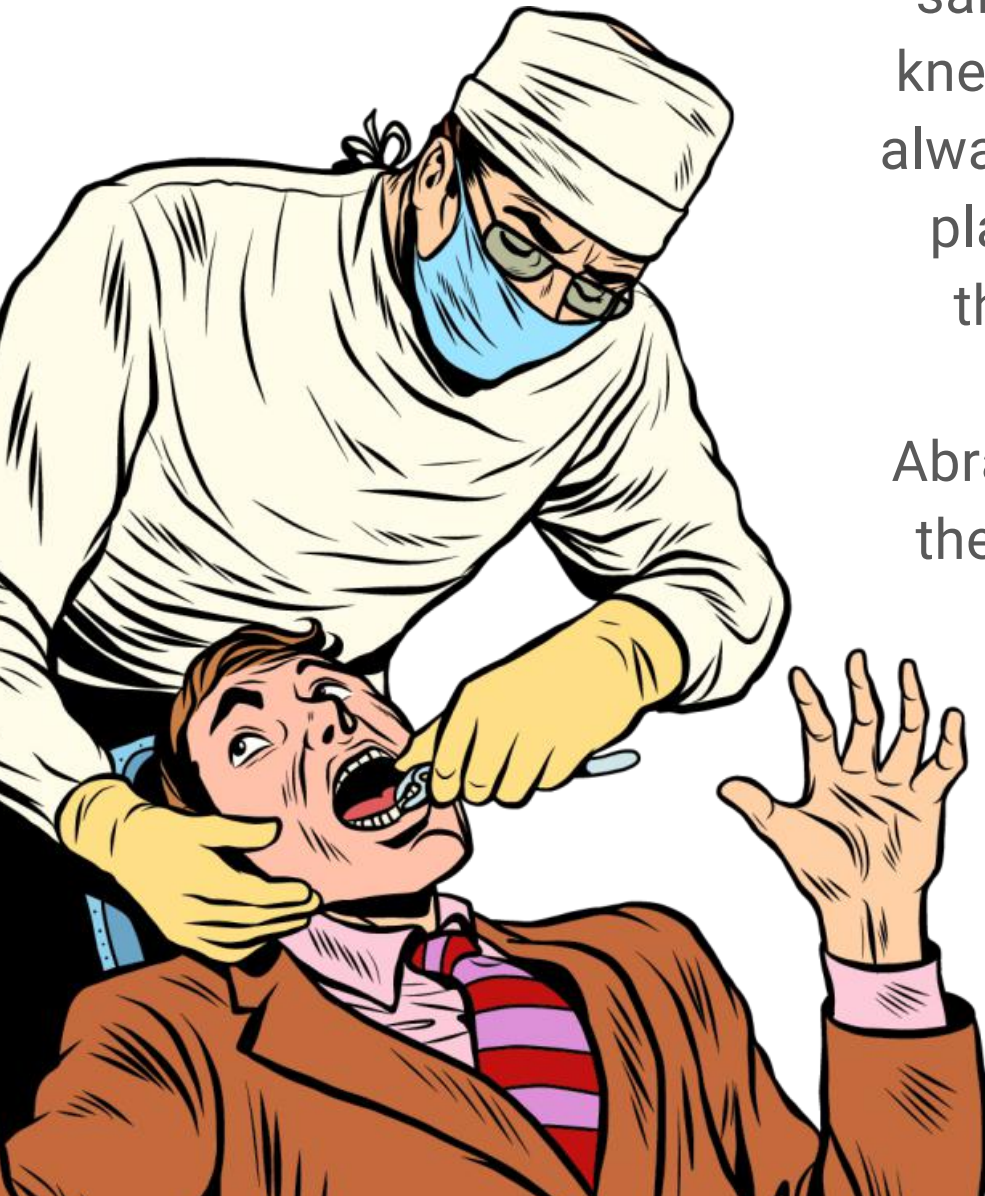

It is the first month of 2019, the new year! 'New' – if you scout a dictionary for this word, it gives us two meanings. One, 'not existing before; made, introduced, or discovered recently or now for the first time'. We know this, don't we? What makes things interesting is the official second meaning – 'already existing but seen, experienced, or acquired recently or now for the first time'. This means a fresh start, a revised plan or an upgradation of what you already have since a long time– all can give you the same exhilaration and thrill that you experienced the first time that it happened.

THE FIRST TIME I TRULY HELPED A PATIENT

Dr Manish House surgeon, NSVK
Sri Venkateshwara Dental College
& Hospital, Bangalore. He is a Writer & Blogger by passion.

“Die when I may, I want it said of me by those who knew me more, and that I always plucked a thistle & planted a flower where I thought a flower would grow,” could be in Abraham Lincoln’s words
the best way to describe and define “help.”

MY GREATEST ROLE AS A DENTIST

Dr Rajashree studied in dental school, Ghaziabad, along with a certification course of Implants from Bioner, Spain.

Nobody jumps into a profession, especially in dentistry fully knowing the differences in work platforms with other health care service providers. It is pretty much understood that dentistry is a “business along with practice”. There is a lot of thought given into the decision before one takes up this career.

THREE THINGS DENTIST CAN LEARN FROM POLITICIANS

Dr Rashi Sharma MDS, studied MDS at Sudha Rustagi Dental College, Greater Faridabad. She is working as an editor in JCDR.

Dentistry is one of the most competitive and rewarding sectors in the health fraternity. Financially, it is going through a blended patch worldwide. In some areas, it is blooming but in some areas, there is no growth. That said, dentistry ranks in the top 5 highest paying careers.

FINANCIAL ADVICE FOR DENTIST

Dr Zainab A Rangwala completed graduation from GDC, Jamnagar She is practicing since 3 years. Avid reader and writer by passion.

Long arduous training period compels young dentists to start their working life late. Long erratic working hours restrain dentists to devote sufficient time to plan their finances. Dentists are at great disadvantage and some may not get proper financial advice. Dental schools only teach clinical aspects of dentistry, absence of financial classes or fiscal understanding are other disadvantages to dentists.
